A Cincinnati Commercial correspondent recently interviewed Andy Johnson, the late accidental president. According to this writers report Johnson is terribly down upon Grant—says that his message is all twaddle—his mind a blank almost—his generalship superficial—and that his election to the presidency was an "accident of an accident." If this last allegation is correct it was a very "queer" accident, just such a one as elects all presidents. But in the matter of accidents, how did A. J. come to be president? Was the assassin Booth's pistol ball that murdered Mr. Lincoln directed by accident? If so it was the accident that put A. J. in the presidential seat. Some people say that he know this accident was to happen.

THE "HEATHEN CHINEE."

BRET HART'S VERSES.

Which I wish to remark,
And my language is plain—
That for ways that are dark
And for tricks that are vain,
The heathen Chinee is peculiar,
Which is the same I would rise to explain

Ah Sin was his name;
And I shall not deny
In regard to the same
What that name might imply
But his smile it was pensive and child-like,
As I frequent remarked to Bill Nye.

It was August the third,
And quite soft was the skies,
Which it might be inferred
That Ah Sin was likewise;
Yet he played it that day upon William
And me in a way I despise.

Which we had a small game,
And Ah Sin took a hand,
It was euchre The same
He did not understand;
But me smiled as he sat by the table,
With a smile that was child like and bland

Yet the cards they were stocked
In a way that I grieve,
And my feeling were shocked
At the state of Nye's sleeve,
Which was stuffed full of aces and bowers,
And the same with intent to deceive.

But the hands that were played
By that heathen Chinee,
And the points that he made,
Were quite frightful to see—
Till at last he put down a right bower
Which the same Nye had dealt unto me

Then I looked up at Nye,
And he gazed upon me,
And he rose with a sigh,
And said, 'Can this be?
We are ruined by Chinese cheap labor'—
And he went for that heathen Chinee.

In the scene that ensued
I did not take a hand,
But the floor it was strewed
Like the leaves on the strand
With the cards that Ah Sin had been hiding
In the game he "did not understand."

In his sleeves, which were long,
He had twenty-four packs—
Which was coming it strong,
Yet I state but the facts,
And we found on his nails, which were tapered,
What is frequent in tapers—that's wax

Which is why I remark,
And my language is plain,
That for ways that are dark,
And for tricks that are vain,
The heathen Chinee is peculiar—
Which is the same I am free to maintain

A STRANGE VISION.

The Mazatlan correspondent of the San Francisco Chronicle says—

A sensation of some importance to the Spiritualists here has excited the public mind ever since the loss of the ill fated steam ship Continental. The sensation was produced in this manner: A clairvoyant physician, an American, who lately arrived in this city, and practices his profession here, had a vision on the night the steamer was wrecked. In the vision he saw an old woman who appeared at his bed side, and was evidently greatly afflicted. At first he was startled by the apparition or spirit, but soon calmed down, and asked the ghost what caused her sorrow. She then wrote upon the wall that the steam ship Continental had just foundered at sea, and that a number of passengers had perished. The spirit of the old lady, although not giving the latitude and longitude where the disaster occurred, was particular in stating that the wreck took place off Cape St Lucas. Having received her self of this piece of information the apparition disappeared, and the clairvoyant was left to cogitate upon the marvelous. Next morning the Dr. arose, and he was so strongly impressed with the strange and mysterious event of the night, that he told many of his friends in private what he had seen and heard. His friends could not keep the secret, and so reports of the wreck spread rapidly throughout the city. As might be expected, great anxiety was felt for the safety of the passengers, and every person who had relatives or friends on board was wondering whether the clairvoyant was right or wrong. Such a strong hold did the reports take upon the public mind, that the authorities had the doctor arrested, and fined him $35 as a distmber of the peace, and one possessed of the devil. The Spiritualists of this city—and it must be known that Spiritualism is making rapid progress among the Mexican people—were somewhat indignant at the arrest, but the authorities heeded no protest and exacted the fine. Precisely eight days after these events news arrived from Cape St Lucas via La Paz, of the wreck of the Continental, and the news confirmed in every particular the story of the clairvoyant. Now, the Spiritualists are in high glee, and demands that the doctor be paid back his fine, and that honors be conferred upon him, rather than that he should be ignominously dealt with. The case is a very strange one, and continues to be a subject of absorbing interest to those who love the mysterious and the marvelous.

ANCIENT AND MODERN DIVISIONS OF TIME.

It is not generally known that a little more than a century ago, new years was celebrated on the 25th of March throughout the British dominions, including America.

The following enactments, adopted by parliament, entitled an "Act regulating the commencement of the year, and for correcting the calendar in use" were passed in the twenty-fourth year of the reign of George II.

"Preamble.—Whereas, The legal supputation of the year of our Lord according to which the year beginneth on the 25th day of March—hath been found by experience to be attended with divers inconveniences," &c.

"Enactments.—That throughout his majesty's dominions in Europe, Asia, Africa and America, the said supputation, according to which the year of our Lord beginneth on the 25th day of March, shall not be made use of from and after the last day of December, 1751; and that the first day of January next following the said last day of December shall be reckoned, taken, deemed, and accounted, to be the first day of our Lord, 1752, and so on from time to time. The first day of January in every year which shall happen in time to come shall be deemed and reckoned the first day of the year," &c.

The act further corrects the calendar thus—"And the natural day next immediately following the 2d day of September shall be called and accounted the 14th day of September, omitting for that time only the eleven intermediate nominal days of the common calendar."

We believe that in the state of R Island to this day all farm and other leases date from the day of the ancient new year, namely, the 25th of March.

The ancient divisions of the day differed widely from the customs of our own time.

The Chaldeans, Syrans, Persians, and Indians, began the day at sun rise and divided the day and night into four parts. This division of the day into quarters was in use long before the division into hours.

The Chinese, who begin their day at midnight, and reckon to the midnight following, divide the intervening into twelve hours, each equal to two of ours and known by a name and particular figure.

In Egypt the day was divided into unequal hours. The clock, invented by Ctesibius of Alexandria, B. C. 250, was so contrived as to lengthen or shorten the hours by the flowing of the water.

The Greeks divided the natural day into twelve hours—a practice derived from the Babylonians.

The Romans called the time between the rising and setting sun the natural day; and the time in the twenty four hours the civil day. They began and ended their civil day at midnight, and took the practice from their ancient laws and customs, and rites of religion, in use long before they had any idea of the divisions into hours.

The first sun dial seen in Rome was brought from Catania in Sicily, in the first Punic war, as part of the spoils of that city; and, after this period, they divided the day into twelve hours. An officer, called accensus, at one time proclaimed the hours, and at the bench of justice announced every three hours the time of day.

In the Turkish empire time is reckoned by certain portions of the natural day, resembling the "watches" of the ancient Jews and Romans. Public clocks not being in use, these divisions of time are proclaimed from the minarets.—Appletons' Journal.

THE NECROLOGY OF MEDICINE.

One of the strangest phenomena in the history of modern civilization is the fact that diseases and deaths prevail, other circumstances being equal, precisely in the same ratio that doctors and drugs are multiplied. The recent census shows us that there are 1600 regular physicians in the city of New York, while there cannot be less than 400 irregular practitioners, making a medical army of full 2,000 strong. In Philadelphia there are about 1500, regular, irregular and defective, practicing the drug healing art. In the two cities there is one physician to every four or five hundred inhabitants. The death rate in both cities averages about 1000 per week. During the late heated term in July, the weekly rate of mortality in New York exceeded 1100, and in Philadelphia reached nearly to 700. A majority of these cases died of acute and primary diseases, and a great majority were children. Hence the enormous mortality cannot be imputed to prior maladies nor constitutional causes. Death in most cases was the direct effect of the disease, or of the medication or of both.

Now if any higenic physician should present such a record of mortuary statistics! He would be expelled as a murderer, or, abated as a nuisance. The first physician who introduced the drug system in Rome was soon after banished from the city, so apparent was it to the people that increased mortality attended his prescriptions. But the people have got used to dying, and now the monstrous delusion has possessed the public mind that poisons are remedies, and that persons die in spite of the people can be disabused of this absurd notion; and this the health reformers will have to do in spite of the doctors.

HOW CERTAIN ANIMALS LIVE IN WINTER.

Our readers know that there are two kinds of respiratory apparatus—lungs which inhale air, abstract oxygen from it, and give in chiefly carbonic acid; and gills which absorb the oxygen dissolved in water, and also give off chiefly carbonic acid, which is more readily disengaged in water than the oxygen. These organs are possessed by mammalia and fish, the latter, by it hos, and as lungs are incapable of taking oxygen out of water, the gills cannot take it from the air, or in other words, as lungs cannot breathe water, and gills cannot breathe air, animals with lungs are drowned in water, while fish are drowned in air. A small number of amphibious animals, however, possess both lungs, and can therefore breathe either air or water, and thus live in both. It has been, however, observed that muskrats, and other swimming mammals with lungs could travel considerable distance under ice without reaching any breathing hole on the surface, and it was a long time a problem how they succeeded in living so long and traveling so far without access to the atmosphere. The problem has been answerd by S. Newhouse in a work called the "Trapper's Guide," from which we extract the following:

"Muskrats have a curious method of traveling long under the ice. In their winter excursions to their feeding grounds, which are frequently at great distance from their abodes, they take in breath at starting, and stay under water as long as they can. They rise to the ice and breathe out the air in their lungs, which remains in bubbles against the lower surface of the ice They remain here till the air recovers oxygen from the water and ice and than take it in again, and go on till the operation has to be repeated. In this way they can travel almost any distance and live any length of time under ice.

The hunter sometimes takes advantage of this habit of the muskrat in the following manner:

When the marshes and ponds where the muskrats abound, are first frozen over, and the ice is thin and clear, on striking into their houses with his hatchet, for the purpose of setting his traps, he frequently sees a whole family plunge into the water and swim away under the ice. Following one for some distance, he sees him come up to renew his breath in the manner above described.

After the animal has breathed through the ice, and before he has time to take it in again, the hunter strikes with his hatchet directly over him, and drives away his breath. In this case he drows as in swimming a few rods and the hunter, cutting a hole in the ice, takes him out. Mink, otter and the beaver travel under ice in the same way; and the hunters have frequently told me of taking otters in the manner I have described, when these animals visit the houses of the muskrat for prey."—Manufacturer and Builder.

WHAT BOY CAN DO.

About two hundred and sixty years ago a poor lad of seventeen was seen traveling on foot in the south of England carrying his bundle at the end of a stick, all the clothing he had in the world, and in his pocket an old leather purse, with a few pieces of money given him by his mother, when, with a throbbing, prayerful heart, she took her leave of him on the road a short distance from their own cottage.

And who was John? for that was his name. He was a son of poor but pious parents, and six brothers and five sisters, all of whom had to labor hard for a living. He was a goodly lad, and at fourteen was disappointed in getting a place as parish clerk, and with his parents consent, set out to get employment.

At the city of Exeter, where he first went, he met with no success; but as he looked on the beautiful cathedral, and in the booksellers' windows, a strong desire sprung up in his mind to be a scholar, and at once set out for the university at Oxford, some two hundred miles off, walking the whole way. At night he sometimes slept in barns, or on the sheltered side of a hay stack, and often met with strange companions. He lived chiefly on bread and water, with occasionally a draught of milk as a luxury.

Arrived in the splendid city of Oxford, his clothing nearly worn out, and very dusty, his feet sore, and his spirits depressed, and he knew not what to do. He had heard of Exeter college in Oxford, and thither he went, and to his great delight was engaged to carry coal into the kitchen, to clean pans and kettles, and that kind of work.

Here, while scouring his pans, he might be often seen reading a book. His studious habits soon attracted the attention of the authorities, who admitted him into the college as a poor scholar, providing for all his wants. He studied hard and was soon at the head of his class. He rose to great eminence as a scholar, was very useful as a minister of Christ, and many years before his death, which took place when he was seventy two, he visited his father and mother who was delighted to see their son not only a great scholar, but a pious bishop.

Such was the history of Dr. John Prideaux, who used to say, 'If I had been parish clerk of Ugborough, I should never have been bishop of Worcester.'

PHYSIOLOGICAL EFFECTS OF ALCOHOL.

An important memoir upon the effects of alcohol upon the human body was lately read before the Royal Society of London, giving the result of experiments prosecuted by two eminent surgeons upon an intelligent British soldier. This man was perfectly healthy, and entirely unaccustomed to the use of spirits or tobacco in any form; so that the effects produced were direct, and could be readily appreciated. It was ascertained that small quantities of absolute alcohol—say one or two fluid ounces—given in divided doses, seemed to increase his appetite, while four fluid ounces lessened it considerably, and larger quantities almost destroyed it. While this particular effect may have been the result of peculiarities of constitution in the individual experiment upon, it is also possible that, in case of disease, much smaller quantities of alcohol might affect the appetite. The number of beats of the heart in 24 hours was increased very largely—to an average of at least 13 per cent, and the actual work done by the heart, in excess of the normal task, was found to be equal to that of lifting 13 tons one foot; and indeed during the last two days of the experiment the extra work amounted to 24 tons.

The general conclusions from this experiment and others which we have not space to mention, are very decided that in case of ordinary health, the use of alcohol, even in small doses, is very much to be reprehended.

THE HORSE FROM A MORAL STANDPOINT.

The driver who fights his horse has not got through his first lesson in the management of these animals. Some strike their horse in a fit of anger; others beat them as a punishment for what they conceive to be sinful acts on the part of the horse.

Now the fact is, the horse never does wrong on purpose. In this respect he is better than most men. If he refuses to pull it is more the fault of education, and if he runs away and kicks things to pieces, it is because he is frightened. Men when they are scared do some very foolish things, and they are excused, but no allowance is made for the runaway horse. He is kicked, cuffed and beat, as if what was done was done on purpose to hurt somebody, and not in consequence of supposed danger, which the poor animal was trying to flee from.

Horses never kick without a motive, they use their heels for defense, and the first kick at the traces is given to ward off what to them seems danger. No horse ever kicked for any other purpose. They cherish no ill feeling against any one, and always do, as far as they know what is right.

All horses can be educated to do whatever the driver wishes. They obey cheerfully and without grumbling, even though put to rest with half rations in a cold, filthy, muddy stable. A horse can easily be taught to know the harness will not hurt him. Then he will not kick at it and run away.

He is also easily taught to pull by the traces or by the halter strap. If you wish him to pull well on the halter, all you have to do is to hitch him with something he can easily break, and he will soon learn to pull back with such force that no bridle will hold him. If you want him to pull well by the traces, give him a light load until he learns to move it, and he will soon pull his best at heavy loads.

Horses balk or pull just as they are taught. It does not matter which end of a horse you fasten a weight to. They will balk as readily when hitched by the traces, if improperly trained, as when hitched by the halter, if trained to do so, as they pull forward, when hitched by the traces to a wagon.

It is an easy matter to teach a horse to refuse to pull at either the halter or traces, and it is equally as easy to teach him to pull by the same means. If those who drive horses would keep this fact in view, they would never be guilty of the shameful act of beating their team in a mud hole or on a hill side.

At a recent examination of one of the schools at Washington, the question was put to a class of small boys:

"Why is the Connecticut river so called?"

A little fellow put up his hand.

'Do you know, James?'

'Yes, ma'am; because it connects Vermont and New Hampshire, and cuts through Massachusetts?' was the triumphant reply.

BOYS AND SMOKING.

The French people carry the practice of smoking to a degree of perfection which constitutes it almost a fine art. Both men, women and boys smoke. Whether the girls and babies smoke or not, we do not know, but they have so few of them that it does not, perhaps, make much difference whether they do or not. The effect of smoking on boys is said by an able medical writer, who has been investigating the subject, to be most favorable to the development, not of manly, noble, healthy, character, but of pallor, afflatus, palpitation of the heart, a diminution of the normal or red globules, dyspepsia, want of intelligence, and a liking more or less decided for strong drink. This information must be decidedly gratifying to the savans of science who have so often proved tobacco to be so wholesome a narcotic. Added to former evidence, it will make an argument so strong, that even that enthusiastic laborer against its use, George Trask, will perhaps see the folly of doing any more, and give up his work of distributing tracts broadcast to induce boys to let tobacco alone. Its effect in French boys is incontestable. What better evidence do they want that they can use it? And then, again, the same authority has noticed a very strong objection to breaking off. He says 'Those who abandon the practice before any organic lesions are produced, perfectly recover their health.' This is unfortunate. Why should boys be so unlike other people as to be healthy? If they are sickly they can be petted and pampered; escape work and play and go out of this world early. But seriously, why do boys ever smoke? Because the example is set them by their elders. They are the most perfect imitators in the world. They like to try their hands at whatever they see others doing. Set them a good example and they will follow it. Set them a bad one, and they will follow that too.

THE WASHERWOMAN'S DAUGHTER.

In one of the most prominent cities of Italy, more than a score of years ago, the tattered figure of a little girl lay at the door of a house occupied by an eminent American lady, then pursuing her professional engagements as a vocalist. Time and again the child would seek her accustomed place, and as the sweet notes of the wonderful songstress woke the quiet of the street, she would give her whole swelling heart to the theme, drinking it in with an interest contrasting strongly with her humble appearance. Continuing her favorite vocation with unabated patience, it was not long before the circumstance attracted the attention of the lady, who kindly drew her little admirer into her apartment, while she resumed practice.

Delighted and charmed, the child silently followed each enchanting passage, too full to utter the gratitude of her little heart.

'Would you like to learn to sing?' asked the lady, at length.

'Oh! so much!'

Testing her young pupil, she discovered a voice of rare promise and sweetness.

'Now, who are you, my dear?'

'Only your washerwoman's daughter,' replied the other.

And from that began a rigid course of instruction until the lady's time of departure was fixed, and soon she was sailing for America.

A few years since a lady distinguished and beloved for a past glory that only age could limit, received a brief note enclosing a complimentary card, and lines stating that the writer would be pleased and honored with her presence during an opera season in which the author was to sustain the principal roles. There was no name inscribed, the note simply ending—The Washerwoman's Daughter.

In an instant the truth recurred to her. The world renowned prima donna was none other than her little Italian pupil. The favorite of our people at this day, the washerwoman's daughter is the acknowledged queen of song.

Penalties are so often delayed men think that they shall escape them but at some time they are certain to follow. When the whirlwind sweeps through the forest, at its first breath that giant tree, with all its boughs falls crashing to the ground. But had been prepared to fall twenty years Twenty years before it had received a gash. Twenty years before the water began to settle in that notch, and from thence decay began to reach with its silent fingers toward the heart of the tree. Every year the work of death progressed, till, at length, it stood, all rottenness, and the gale felled it to the ground. Now there are men who for thirty years have shamed the day and defied the night by their debaucheries but who yet seem strong and vigorous, and exclaim, 'you need not talk of penalties! Look at me! I am hale and hearty to day as ever.' But in reality, they are full of weakness and decay. They have been preparing to fall twenty years, and the first disease strikes them down in a moment.

A Dutchman, who in a fit of passion was swearing terribly, was reproved by a church deacon, who chanced to overhear him.

'Why do you swear so, Hans?' said the deacon, anxious to sound the depth of his religious teaching; 'do you know what died to save sinners?'

'Yaw,' said Hans; 'Cot died to save 'em.'

'Not God, exactly, Hans, but the Son of God.'

'So!' exclaimed Hans, a new light breaking in upon him; 'vos it one of de boys? I tinks, a I de wile vos a cold man.'

BUSINESS IN MASSILLON.

Our business men in the various branches of active life, as a general rule, are prospering, although some prophesied a hard winter on them in consequence of the comparative scarcity of money. It is an agreeable duty to chronicle such a state of things, as it indicates that the prosperity of the place is on a sure basis, and is advancing in the right direction. During the past year a large number of buildings have been erected and finished, among which are some of the most substantial and elegant residences of the place. All of these are occupied, and on very few, if any, are to be seen the words, To Let, or For Sale, though next spring may find a few empty rooms, but even they will not be so long.

Russell & Co's large manufacturing establishment is in full operation, and the Excelsior Works is expected to open out in a few weeks. The Volcano Furnace is in blast and the Massillon Furnace will soon light up its fires, and commence turning out iron. Mr. Davenport's bridge building operations are such that he found it necessary to increase the dimensions of his building. Myers & Willison are moving things in their part of town, while Mong & Crawford have also as much as they can do to fill orders in the way of wood work. Joe Baliney, Huntsman & Mong, Jas. Hackett, and A Heither, are fully employed in manufacturing and selling cabinet ware. Carpenters, blacksmiths, shoemakers, tailors, are all busy in building, and hammering, and stitching, and pegging to accommodate their customers The carriage shops of Clay & Ogden, Walser & Son, and F. Ertle find plenty to do. Taylor & Co. have just been enlarging their wire weaving machinery, which is evidence that they are fully employed. The Hess Bros. are doing so well in the tinning and other branches of business in which they are engaged as to enable them to purchase the substantial building where they have been operating for years. Smith, Bowman & Co. are doing a large business in the tin and stove trade, so also is Dan Stevens, and Andrew Snyder has found it necessary to have his tin shop enlarged, which Mr. Reeves is having done. The marble business is flourishing under Mr. Reeves' management, and Mr. Killinger is successfully pursuing the same business. In the dry goods line our merchants are having a fair patronage. The old and well known dry goods stores of Warwick & Co., G. P. Reed, Humberger & Son, McLain, Dangler & Co., Ricks & Bro., S. Oberlin, I. B. Dangler, and J. B. Estep, are well supplied with customers. The clothing stores of F. Sibila, F. Hookway, S. Loew, M. Davidson and Koch & Co., are supplying their patrons with their indispensable goods. The drug stores of J. Watson, E. Kachler, W. Rudenstein and Demuth & Co., all seem to be prospering. The hardware stores of Kelley Bros., S. A. Conrad and Bowman & Maier are all doing well. In the grocery trade there are so many engaged that the list will be too long to name them all, but from what we can see they are all favored with liberal patronage. Of course we sympathise with the temperance establishments, gladly record their success, and have no objections to the prosperity of the other class in supplying the legitimate wants of our people, but we deprecate their liquor selling. The glassware and queensware stores of Williams & Reed, Mrs. Booden, Lockwood & Son, have enough business to make it pay. The millinery stores of H. Falke and Bingham & Co, must have a good trade in supplying the ladies with their numerous wants. The jewelry, and the watch and clock establishments of J. Coleman, L. Schufele, and others seem to be up to the times. Killinger & Co's. engine repairing, stove manufacturing and other branches of metal working is one of the busiest places in town. The photograph galleries of Mrs. Fletcher, Grosskians, Ricksecker & Co., have as much work as they can attend to these short days. The American Hotel, the Zielley House, principal hotels of the place, and those of smaller dimensions, seem to have plenty of guests. Occasionally falls of snow give business to the livery stables, of P. Gribble, O. G. Madison, D. Bannel in furnishing sleighs to various parties. Mr. Minich is without a rival in the fur and hat furnishing trade. We wish to slight none in thus referring to the present condition of business here, but the list to embrace all deserving notice would extend beyond our limits, and will conclude, for this time, with saying that our lumbermen, consisting of Moses Brown, T. Richmond, and W. Castleman, are in no danger of having their stock on hand to spoil before it will be bought for use. We shall try to continue this list in order to fill up omissions, and bring before the public others unmentioned above who may wish it.

S. V. Horton long a faithful and consistent laborer in the temperance reform, died at his residence in Cincinnati on the 3d inst. Consumption long since had marked him for a victim, but he ceased not to work when able to do so; and for some sixteen years was the grand scribe for the Sons of Temperance in Ohio. His example will be held in grateful remembrance by those who have been encouraged to espouse the cause of sobriety through the instrumentality of his labors. His works will follow him, and although dead in flesh his precepts and practice will not die. His memory is a rich legacy to many a reformer in the ranks of sobriety. But how is it with the memory of the grogseller? How many widows, orphans, and bereaved families live to execrate his name and curse his misdeeds which tend only to bring misery and death in their train.

Late savage demonstaations of the kuklux seem to make it necessary that congress, or some other authority having power, should take efficient measures to arrest their depredations, and reconstruct a large portion of them. The president is said to be decidedly down on universal amnesty, although a large body in congress is reported as in favor of it, but not sufficient to secure a two-thirds vote. Many people have the idea that there will have to be some official killing in the south before peace and quiet are fully prevalent. The schoolmaster will be the best agency to send, though his work may require more time than the soldiers. It will be more lasting, the teacher's instructions.

MR. EDITOR:—On Friday evening we were delightfully entertained by the exercises of the Sabbath School scholars of the Christian church, the singing and recitations by the school and different classes was very good. But the best portions of the whole was the Parable of the King's Supper, rendered in the form of a dialogue; the recitations of the Coming of the Lord, by Miss M. Taylor, and the Burial of Moses, by Miss Ada Metz, these were good. Am sorry we did n't discover your frosty head among the congregation for your pen could have given a better account of the entertainment.

Yours, J.

For the Independent.

MR. EDITOR—An article in your last paper over the initials of J. N. makes it necessary for me to appear in self defense. The writer came to my place of business to inquire about the articles written by K, to know if I was the author. I informed him that I had nothing to do with these articles, that I neither wrote them, instigated their being written, or was in any way connected with them. This J. N. knew, and yet he deilberately asserts that I was the instigator of them. Does J N. know that he has willfully accused me of a 'vile act,' by inciting another to 'do wickedly?' I will admit I became indignant when I found he had not only accused me of lying, but that I would hire, or aid others to do what I would despise to do myself. Black mail is a term applied only to robbers and their allies. J. N. must study more closely the use of language, or he may find it necessary to make more explanations. Again, I inform J. N that I had nothing to do with K's articles, but that I did mention the circumstance of the order to several persons, not with a view to its publication, but because I thought J. N. could as easily have said to me that he would pay that amount, as to stand on the street and wait for the miner to come to my place of business for his wife and basket. J. N. says, 'He [I] did not do as some men would have done, offer to have the matter publicly corrected, but expressed no such desire or intention.' Now that is cool. I had nothing to correct, and nothing to publish, unless it was that J. N. preferred to patronize another at my expense, by taking my customers and going with them to another. I have the expressed opinion of some of his own friends, that I had reason to feel indignant at his treatment. He says, in conclusion, that I will not sell any more groceries by the publication of K's articles, still intimating that I was responsible for them. No, I suppose if I had many such warm friends as he is I would soon have to close doors. But pardon me for occupying so much space in your columns. I felt called upon to defend myself from these false charges.

Yours, the Temperance Grocer,
Massillon, Jan. 6, 1871. J. S. A.

For the Independent.

MR. EDITOR:—In your issue of the 4th inst., J. N. has an article which is deserving attention. When I noticed your article on the new calaboose defending a worthy class of citizens from the charge that those who sell liquor should occupy that building for their head quarters, I did not expect the assistance that he has promptly came to my aid. The article written by J. N. has substantiated the very position I have assumed, and coming as it does, from one in high position, is worthy the consideration of every Christian and moralist in the place. But before noticing this communication permit me to correct one or two mistakes of J. N.

In the first place there has been no attempt made by a temperance grocer to blackmail, neither has a temperance grocer anything to do with my articles. I have individually written them to defend an honorable class of citizens from the calaboose. I would scorn to ask a citizen to write against his personal interest and fixed principle. In the second place, I cannot blame a temperance grocer for the laudable desire to secure all the patronage possible.

I have stated that in times like these we who sell ale, beer and liquors have the advantage of those who do not. Instead of the temperance grocer feeling sorry that the article was published, I think that he and J. N. would better be sure my articles alluded to that particular case; but more of this hereafter. I wish to exonorate the temperance grocerymen from having anything whatever to do with these articles.

J. N. desires it to be distinctly understood that he is not "writing in the interest of liquor selling." A man may by force of circumstances be carried against his will,—bound and compelled to go. But I am happy to say this is not the case with J. N. Of his own free will he has written an article that should and does make the heart of every liquor dealer in Massillon beat with joy. I stated what I knew to be a fact, that the majority of the professing Christians in this place countenance, favor and sustain the liquor traffic, and now J. N. comes to my aid, and acknowledges with his high position in the church, this, my strongest statement. While I pay the Christian the high compliment to say that he and he alone can possibly control its use, J. N. deliberately casts a slur of contempt upon those who are laboring to suppress its use in our places of business. There is not a grocer in Massillon who deals in liquor but can afford to pay liberally for being so faithfully sustained, and if J. N. used that which so many condemn he should be welcomed at my counter as among those I esteem most highly. As it is, I can only extend to him my grateful acknowledgments. I would just here desire to say, I never intended to cast a slur or stain upon Christianity, or reproach those who show their profession by their daily lives. I only intended to show that a large number of professing Christians aid and sustain us in our business of selling liquor, and by their actions say it is right.

In my last article I stated that a prominent deacon refused to give an order on one of the temperance groceries, but came in person to one of us and procured the articles necessary. J. N has occupied half a column in explaining something else. We get the deacon's custom and that is what we are after.

In the article J. N. unearths another professor who buys ale by the keg. Whether this one occupies a high position I know not, but I do know he wont hurt the ale. In conclusion, Mr. Editor, somebody will occupy the calaboose, or—some other place. K.

RESOLUTIONS OF SYMPATHY BY LAWRENCE LODGE No 297, I O O F.

WHEREAS: It has pleased the Almighty God to remove from our midst our worthy brother, HENRY LIMBAUCH, therefore,

Resolved, That it is with heartfelf feelings of sorlow that we lament his loss as a Brother, and an active working member in the Lodge room; but that while we mourn his loss, we trust he has gone to join the hosts of the redeemed at God's right hand, and that our loss is his infinite gain. Also,

Resolved, That we deeply sympathise with the family and friends in this the hour of their affliction and grief Also.

Resolved, That the emblems of our Lodge Room wear the badge of mourning for the space of six months.

Resolved, That a copy of these Resolutions be presented to the family and friends, and that they be sent to the Massillon Independent, Akron Beacon, and Akron City Times for publication.

Ayer's

Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

HAIR DRESSING,

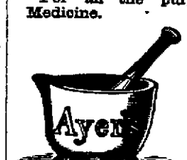
Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.



Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative Pill. The obvious reason is, that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cured them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all know that what it does once it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates; containing neither calomel or any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:—

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

NEWSPAPER ARCHIVE®

LOCAL MATTERS.

Hon. S. C. Bowman has favored us with a copy of the annual report of the secretary of the state, which also contains the report of commissioner of statistics, and an abstract of the ninth census of Ohio. There is much useful statistical information contained in the 300 pages of this book, not the least of which is in regard to the geology of the state, education, agriculture, fall election returns, the population of every township and town in Ohio for 1860 and 1870, and numerous other items of interest form part of the book. He also sent us the governor,s message and accompanying documents. In the pardon report we see that there were 214 applications for executive clemency 42 of which were pardoned from the penitentiary.

On last Thursday night, between 12 and 1 o'clock the fire bell was rung, when it was ascertained that the shed covering the oven of P. Stilgenbauer & Son's bakery was on fire. With prompt and proper effort the flames were soon extinguished, so that even the shingles were mostly saved. The insurance company awarded the proprietors $40 damages. It is not known how the fire originated.

Wm. A. Knapp, adjutant general of Ohio has sent us his annual report of the condition of military affairs in the state for 1870, for which we are much obliged. Gen. Knapp as is well known here, is a native of Massillon, and although yet a young man, has proved himself competent to take charge of military matters for the third state in the union.

The California Minstrels—This popular company will occupy the Opera House on the evenings of the 16th and 17th inst., and give two of their novel, unique and original performances. Among the list of well known and favorite performers, we find that of John Jennings, the Irish, and Charley Fox the Dutch comedian; Billy Weston with his banjo comicalities, and Sidney Williams, the great tenor.

A large audience was highly interested, on yesterday evening, in listening to the lecture hf Rev. Dr. Eells, in the Presbyterian church, concerning the Strange things in California.—Many present for the first time heard information in regard to the natural, artificial, social and other peculiarities of this new and valuable member of the American union.

Regular preaching has been had for some time at the Disciples church, but for some years there has been no organized congregation worshiping there On new year's day the society of believers in that faith took form, and now the usual ordinances of the denomination are observed every Sunday, we understand, according to then long established custom elsewhere. Prof. Atwater has agreed to preach at that church alternate Sundays for six months. Last Sunday, however, an elder, we suppose of Canton preached a rather interesting discourse

The Public Ledger (Philadelphia) Almanac for 1870 is a very comprehensive document, embracing a vast amount of information in small compass, and on subjects of which the majority of us know but little. Mr. Childs, the publisher, has issued a edition af 80,000 of these almanacs, which he freely gives away.

I. O. O. F.—The following named persons are the officers of Eureka Encampment, No. 24, of this place. for the current term: J. Linderman, C. P.; S. S. Whistler, S. W.; Chas. E. Taylor, J. W.; L. S. Hardy, H. P.; D. Fahs, S; N. S. Russell, T.

The officers of Sippo Lodge, No. 48. are Jas. A. Hackett, N. G.; Chas. E. Taylor, V G.; Geo. W. Mong, R. S; John B. Wert, P. S; Nahum S. Russell, Tr.

The officers of Lawrence Lodge, No. 297, of Fulton, are J. Eckey, N. G.; George Tompkins, V. G.; B E. Hardgrove, R. S.; S. M. Buckmaster, P. S.; A. H. Sowers, Tr.

Dr. A. W. Ridenour, who has for some years been in the practice of his profession at Fulton, has removed to this place and now occupies an office over T. Hookway's clothing store. The doctor is an affable and intelligent young man, and no doubt will continue as he has been, a worthy member of his profession.

Any one wishing a single or double shawl in fancy or plain colors should call at A. J. Humberger & Son's before buying; they have a good assortment and have reduced the price of them so as to place them within the reach of all. 5

Somebody has started the report that Josh Billings is to come to Massillon and give us one of his characteristic lecturers. In referring to the statement some of the papers allege that Josh don,t amount to much—all this talk is nonsense. If such papers were always to publish as hard sense as Josh utters, even in his odd style, they would improve in that respect exceedingly. Let Josh come.

The New York Observer's year book for 1871 is a compilation of a large amount of religous, statistical and other information, and should be in the hands of all who would be posted on many of the leading institutions of the day. It is a book of 200 large pages, printed on tinted paper, and sold at $1. Subscribers to the Observer, on remitting for that paper its subscription price ($3) will recieve a copy of this years book.

The Prohibition Era which has been published at Cleveland for sometime in the ordinary or folio shape has changed its form, and now appears beautifully printed, in the eight page style. It is ably conducted, and efficient worker in the good cause of temperance, and takes the highest ground in favor of total abstinence from all that intoxicates. The last number gives encouraging reports of the prosperity of the temperance cause in many places—new lodges are being organized and old ones strengthend for the work. Under the head of liquor doings it gives a fearful list of outrages perpetrated by the demon alcohol.

That great work, the tunnel of Mt. Cenis, which is to open railroad communication direct between France and Italy, is about through. It is between seven and eight miles long, and is one of the grandest engineering achievments of the age. The work was commenced by both nations about 1859

Our legislature is actively laying out work, and the people hope it will not waste time in useless buncombe, but do the best possible for the people. According to the new constitution this is the year in which that body may take measures to introduce further amendments. What may be done in that way is still unknown, as but little has been said in regard to further progress in that direction. Striking out the animal word male, meaning he voters, will be a wholesome move. The legislature only proposes amendments, which are to be ratified or rejected by the people.

The governor's message is a brief document discussing state affairs, and is commended even by the democracy as a model executive production.

The latest foreign news we have intimates that the bombardment of Paris by the Prussians has not only commenced, but is increasing. A report is current that the Parisians are in a suffering condition, but how true it is, or how extensive this suffering is unknown to the outside world. Of course there is much privation in the ill fated city, as there is also outside in both the countries engaged in this fearful strife, and no philanthropist can but wish a speedy end may come to hostilities.

For the Independent

Editor Independent—Gent: In a recent issue of the Massillon Independent we noticed an article signed 'K,' concerning the liquor trade connected with a majority of the provision stores of Massillon, and not regarding it as being worthy of much notice at the time, yet we take the liberty at this time, by your permission, briefly to answer it, from the fact that we are charged by some as being the originators of that article. This we deny, having no knowledge of said production until it came before our observation through the columns of your paper.

Some have thought that we perhaps were foolish enough to commit ourselves (as he who wrote the article most assuredly did) to the injustice there portrayed by its misrepresentations, its erroneous and false accusations alluded to regarding the place most natural and most desirable for them to do their business, speaking now of course of that class particularly referred to in that writing, viz: the ministers and Christian people connected or not with the several churches at Massillon. Is it possible for a minister to lend his influence to support that which he is constantly and emphatically preaching to be wrong? Are the good Samaritans of our churches to be inveigled in seemingly under the false pretense of some miguided mind into the idea that they by their trade assist to sustain and protect such institutions? It is absurd and unnatural; if not then this place has no equal in the history of any nation, and is a grand exception. Furthermore, we are fully prepared to state that a large portion of the class referred to do not trade altogether nor a quarter part at the places named by said correspondent. Neither do we believe that there is any minister or sanguine Christian who would from his presence or pecuniarily lend any assistance from 'choice' to any house that sells intoxicating liquors in point of trade.

And again, he says, 'No house has ever succeeded in business here that did not resort to the sale of liquors.' Strange rumor this, and needs but a passing remark. There are houses to day in Massillon that are doing a safe, fair, prosperous and increasing business, void of liquor, and flatter themselves that not only a few but a goodly number appreciate—not only our effort but others with us to establish a business wholly divorced from that of the liquor trade.

Respectfully submitted,
McDONALD & BRUCE.

TO PHYSICIANS.

NEW YORK, August 15th, 1868.

Allow to call attention to my Preparation of Compound Extract Buchu. The component parts are Buchu, Long Leaf, Cubebs, Juniper Berries.

Mode of Preparation.—Buchu, in vacuo. Juniper berries, by distillation to form a fine gin. Cubebs extracted by displacement with spirits obtained from Juniper Berries, very little sugar is used and a small proportion of spirit. It is more palatable than any now in use.

Buchu as prepared by druggists, is of a dark color. It is a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of a flame destroys this (its active principle), leaving a dark and glutinous decoction. Mine is the color of ingredients. The buchu in my preparation preserved is the smallest quantity of the other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection it will be found not to be a tincture, as made in pharmacopœa, nor is it a syrup—and therefore can be used in cases where fever or inflamation exists. In this, you have a knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of preparation.

Hoping that you will favor it with a trial, and that upon inspection it will meet with your approbation,

With a feeling of profound confidence,
I am, very respectfully.

HELMBOLD'S

FLUID EXTRACT

BUCHU.

For weakness arising from indiscretion. The exhausted powers of nature which are accompanied by so many alarming symptoms among which will be found indisposition to exertion, loss of memory, wakefulness, horror of disease, or forebodings of evil; in fact, universal lassitude, prostration. and inability to enter into the enjoymenty of society.

THE CONSTITUTION

once affected with organic weakness, requires the aid of medicine to strengthen and invigorate the system, which Helmbold's Extract Buchu invariably does If no treatment is submitted to, consumption or insanity ensues.

Helmbold's Fluid Extract Buchu

in affections peculiar to females, is unequaled by any other preparation, as in chlorosis, or retention, painful, or suppression of customary evacuations, ulcerated or Schirrus state of the uterus, and all complaints incidental to the sex, or the decline or change of life.

Helmbold's Fluid Extract Buchu

AND

IMPROVED ROSE WASH

will radilicay exterminate from the system diseases arising from habits of dissipation, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience or exposure; completely superceding those unpleasant and dangerous remedies copaiva and mercury, in all these diseases.

USE

Helmbold's Fluid Extract Buchu

In all diseases of these organs, whether existing in male or female, from whate cause originating, and no matter how long standing. It is pleasant in taste and odor, immediate in action, and more strengthening than any of the preparations of bark or iron.

Those suffering from broken down or delicate constitutions, procure the remedy at once.

The reader must be aware that, howeve slight may be the attack of the above diseases, it ss certain to effect the bodily health and mental powers.

All the above diseases require the aid of a Diuretic. Helmbold's Extract Buchu is the great Diuretic.

Sold by druggists everywhere. Price $1,25 per bottle, or 6 bottles for $6,50. Delivered to any address. Describe symptoms in all communications. Address,

Hoofland's German Bitters,

Hoofland's German Tonic,

Hoofland's Podophyllin Pill

Hoofland's Greek Oil.

Hoofland's German Bitters,

A Bitters without Alcohol or Spirits of any kind.

Is different from all others. It is composed of the pure juices or vital principle of roots herbs, and barks, (or as medicinally termed extracts), the worthless or inert portions of the ingredients not being used. Therefore, in one bottle of this bitters there is contained as much medicinal virtue as will be found in several gallons of ordinary mixtures The roots &c, used in this bitters are grown in Germany, their vital principles extracted in that country by a scientific chemist and forwarded to the manufactory in this city where they are compounded and bottled Containing no spirituous ingredients, this bitters is free from the objections urged against all others; no desire for stimulants can be induced from their use, they cannot make drunkards and cannot under any circumstances, have any but a benecial effect.

Hoofland's German Tonic

Was compounded for those not inclined to extreme bitters, and is intended for use in cases where some alcoholic stimulant is required in connection with the tonic properties of the bitters. Each bottle of the tonic contains one bottle of the bitters, combined with pure Santa Cruz Rum, and flavored in such a manner that the extreme bitterness of the bitters is overcome, forming a preparation highly agreeable and pleasant to the palate, and containing the medicinal virtues of the bitters. The price of the tonic is $1,50 per bottle, which many persons think too high. They must take into consideration that the stimulant used is guaranteed to be of a pure quality. A poor article could be furnished at a cheaper price, but is it not better to pay a little more and have a good article? A medicinal preparation should contain only the best ingredients, and they who expect to obtain a cheap compound will most certainly be cheated.

They are the greatest known Remedies

For Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Nervous Debility, Jaundice, Disease of the Kidneys, Eruptions of the Skin, and all diseases arising from a disordered Liver, or Stomach, or Impurity of the Blood.

Read the following symptoms:

Constipation, flatulence, inward piles, fullness of blood to the head, acidity of the stomach, nausea, heartburn, disgust for food, fullness or weight in the stomach, sour eructations, sinking or fluttering at the pit of the stomach, swiming of the head, hurried or difficult breathing, fluttering at the heart choking or suffocating sensations when in a lying posture, dimness of vision, dots or webs before the sight, dull pain in the head, deficiency of perspiration, yellowness of the skin, and eyes, pain in the side, back, chest, limbs, &c., sudden flushes of heat, burning in the flesh, constant imaginings of evil, and great depression of spirits All these indicate disease of the liver or digestive organs combined with impure blood.

The use of the bitters or tonic will soon cause the above symptoms to disappear, and the patient will become well and healthy.

Dr. Hoofland's Greek Oil,

LIGHTNING CURE FOR ALL KINDS OF PAINS AND ACHES.

APPLIED INTERNALLY.—It will cure kidney complaints, backaches, sick headaches, colic, dysentery, diarrhœa, cholera Infantum, cholera morbus, cramps, and pains in the stomach, fever and ague, colds, coughs Asthma, &c,

APPLIED EXTERNALLY.—It will cure all kinds of pains and aches, such as rheumatism, neuralgia. toothache, chilblains, sprains bruises, frost bites, headaches, pains in the back and loins, pains in the joints or limbs, stings of insects, ringworms, &c.

Dr Hoofland's Podophyllin

Substitute for Mercury Pill.

TWO PILLS A DOSE.

The most powerful, yet innocent vegetable cathartic known.

It is not necessary to take a handful of these pills to produce the desired effect; two of them act quickly and powerfully, cleansing the liver, stomach and bowels of all impurities. The principal ingredient is Podophyalin, or the alcoholic extract of mandrake which is by many times more powerful, acting, and searching, than the mandrake itself. Its peculiar action is upon the liver, cleaning it speedily from all obstructions, with all the power of mercury, yet free from the injurious results attached to the use of that mineral.

For all diseases in which the use of a cathartic is indicated, these pills will give entire satisfaction in every case. They never fail,

In cases of liver complaint, dyspepsia, and extreme costiveness, Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters or tonic should be used in connection with the pills. The tonic effects of the bitters or tonic builds up the system. The bitters or tonic purifies the blood, strengthens the nerves, regulates the liver and gives strength, energy, and vigor.

Keep your bowels active with the pills, and tone up the system with bitters or tonic, and no disease can retain its hold, or ever assail you.

These medicines are sold by all druggists and dealers in medicines everywhere.

Recollect that it is Dr. Hoofland's German Remedies, that are so universally used and highly recommended; and do not allow the druggist to induce you to take anything else that he may say is just as good, because he makes a larger profit on it. These remedies will be sent by express to any locality, upon application to the principal office, at the German Medical Store, 631 Arch Street, Pa.

Chas. M. Evans, Prop.

Formerly C. M. Jackson & Co.

These remedies are for sale by druggists, storekeepers, and medicine dealers, everywhere throughout the United States, Canadas, So America and the West Indies. 389 1y

Spread the Truth.

Some medical men insist that it is undignified to advertise a remedy, however valuable it may be. Queer reasoning this. It is like saying that an article which the world needs should be hid in a corner—that benefits and blessings may be too widely diffused—that the means of protecting and restoring health should be a close monopoly, and not accessible to all. The argument is bad. It is worse than that, it is inhuman. Suppose Hostetter's stomach bitters—an absolute specific for dyspepsia, biliousness and nervous debility—had never been known beyond the repetoire of the faculty, what would have been the result? Instead of curing and invigorating millions, the good effects of the preparation would have been confined to a comparative few. There is the highest authority for saying that light should not be hid under a bushel; that whatever is excellent should be placed as a city upon a hill, where all men can take cognizance of it. It is upon this principle that the bitters has been advertised and continue to be advertised in every newspaper of prominence in the western hem sphere, and that the spontaneous testimonials in its favor have been translated into all written languages. Thousands enjoy perfect health to-day who would be languishing on beds of sickness if there newspapers had not spread the truth with regard to this unequaled invigorant and corrective far and wide. Suppose profit has been reaped from this publicity Is that any argument against it? If the public health has been protected; if lives have been saved if the feeble have been strengthened and the sick restored, great good has been accomplished; and who so mean as to grudge to exertions thus directed their fair reward?

Many Eminent Men

Have candidly asserted their opinion that there is no remedy equal to Mishler's HERB BITTERS for that class of diseases peculiar to the people of sedentary habits It is a preparation of wonderful virtue in all cases of this kind, never having failed in effecting a cure, and it still continues on its triumphant career. For all forms of diseases arising from the impurity of the Blood, or derangement of the digestive organs, including General Debility, Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Sick Headache, Constipation, and similar ailments, it is a certain remedy. Leading physicians everywhere prescribe it to their patients, and have given the proprietors of the Bitters many testimonials of their confidence in the efficacy of the preparation as a remedy. Sold, in square bottles only, by all respectable druggists and storekeepers Price, one dollar per bottle For January.

'I can't find bread for my family,' said a lazy fellow. 'Not I,' replied an industrious miller, 'I am obliged to work it.'

A city missionary was asked the cause of his poverty. 'Principally,' said he, with a twinkle in his eye, 'because I have preached without notes!'

An old bachelor having been laughed at by a bevy of pretty girls, told them they were small potatoes. 'We may be small potatoes,' replied one of them 'but we are sweet ones,' and the old hunks had to acknowledge it.

A Massachusetts paper tells of a colored woman who had been lately converted, but was so unfortunate as to fly into a passion over the misdoings of one of her neighbor's youngsters. Her mistress remarked upon the impropriety of such conduct in the case of one about to join church, and received the frank response: 'I've sperienced religion, an' I'se gwine to join the church, but Miss B——, I'll scald dat nigger furst.'

A down easter advertises for a wife in the following manner: 'Any gal what's got a cow, a good feather bed with comfortable fixins, five hundred dollars in hard pewter—one that's had the measles, and understands tending children—can find a customer for life by writing a small billy dux, addressed to R. S., and stickin in a crack of Uncle Ebenezer's red barn, backside jinin the hog pen.'

A pleasant incident occurred at a wedding in the Universalist church at New Haven, Ct. recently. As the doors were opened to admit the bridal party, a dove flew in and alighted near the happy couple, and remained as a spectator of the ceremony.

A negress, speaking of one of her children who was lighter than the rest, said, 'I neber could bear dat brat 'cause he show dirt so easy.'

'Come til America, Pat,' writes a son of the Emerald Isle to his friend in Ireland, 'it's the country to get a livin in. All ye have to do is to get a three cornered box and fill it with brick, and carry it to the top of a three story building, and the man at the top does all the work.'

Charles Reade says: 'No man and no woman is safe who has once formed the habit of looking to drink for solace, or cheerfulness, or comfort.—While the world goes well, they will be likely to be temperate, but the habit is built, the railroad to destruction is cut ready to use, the rails are laid down, the station houses are erected, and the train is on the line waiting only for the locomotive; it comes to us, it grapples us, and away we go in a moment down the line we have been constructing, like a flash of lightning to destruction.'

There is perhaps no more odious character in the world than a go between; by which we mean that person who carries to the ears of one neighbor all the injurious observations which happen to drop from another. Such a person is the slanderer's herald, and is altogether more odious than the slanderer himself. By his vile officiousness he makes the poison effective, which else were inert; for three-fourths of the slanderers in the world would never injure their object except by the malice of go-betweens, who under the mask of double friendship act the part of double traitors.

Cigar smoking is not always the lawyer's normal occupation, for here's the bar of Manitee, Mich., eight lawyers and a judge, and not a man of them ever uses liquor in any form or chews tobacco, and only one of them ever smokes.

Spurgeon has given expression to some very fine thoughts which may help you in striking, by self-application your year's balance. One is: When you see a man with a great deal of religion displayed in his shop window, you may depend upon it he has a very small stock of it within.

The human race is divided into two classes, those who go ahead and do something; and those who sit still and inquire "why wasn't it done the other way."

$1,000 reward is offered by the proprietor of Dr. Pierce's Alt. Ext. or Golden Medical discovery for medicine that will equal it for the cure of all the diseases for which it is recommended, among which are "Biliousness," or Liver Complaint," constipated bowels, impure blood, scrofulous diseases, Eruptions, Pimples, Blotches, Boils and severe and lingering coughs, bronchitis, consumption in its early stages and nervous and general debility. Sold by druggists.

On conclusion of a suit just ended in New York, in which the publishers of a daily paper recovered a judgment of $774 against a mercantile firm for advertising, some facts were brought out that the public will do well to heed. The advertisement was sent to the office by the firm, but with no direction as to how many times it should be published. This being the case, it was marked "till forbidden" and was published in every edition until the bill amounted to the sum above stated. The firm contended that it was the intention to have the advertisement inserted once, but stated that they saw it appear day after day and did not order it to stop. The court held that the publishers pursued the only and usual course left them, and that the defendants were negligent in not sending instructions at first, or not ordering the advertisement out subsequently, and rendered a judgment for the amount of the bill.

The Independent,

Massillon, Ohio,

Is now Seven Years Old, and

"Still Lives."

Without boasting of being an organ of immense influence, we may with diffidence claim that the paper is not without usefulness in the right direction, ever contending for ju all the living issues of the day. But its principal business has ever been to subserve the local interests of the community with which it is identified, and so it proposes to continue. Its home record of the ever varying phases of business, of the prosperity of the city, and of the social and moral state of society here, with other matters too numerous to specify, will give those who come after us, and have occasion to examine the files of this paper, a faithful history of the years of its existence.

We solicit the continued patronage of our people in the confidence that we shall render satisfaction—at least as near as as we can come at it—and for such as are removing elsewhere we hope to make the INDEPENDENT a very welcome visitor.

Dr. J. LONG,

Eclectic Physician,

Has located himself at Massillon, O, for the treatment of Female & Chronic Diseases.

Office on Main street, four doors east of the American Hotel.

All consultations and examinations of patients made free of charge

Dr Long examines and explains your disease without asking any questions. If he understands your case you know it, and can not be deceived. If he cannot tell your disease, and how you feel without asking questions he does not consider himself competent to treat your case. This is the course to go by, and patients should not be satisfied with any other. This is the only direct and positive evidence of my ability as a scientific physician, and by this standard I am willing to be judged.

A proper diagnosis of local disease, without constitutional symptoms, that is, not affecting the system generally, must depend upon the judgement of both patient and physician.

Give Dr Long a call, and satisfy yourselves whether he understands your cases sufficiently well to treat them successfully.

Dr Long may be consulted in the German and English languages. Address letters,

A LECTURE TO YOUNG MEN.

Just Published in a Sealed Envelope, Price six cents. A Lecture on the Nature, Treatment and Radical Cure of of Spermatorrhœa, or Seminal weakness, involuntary seminal losses, impotency, mental and physical incapacity, impediments to marriage, etc; also, consumption, epilepsy, and fits, induced by self indulgence or sexual extravagance.

The celebrated author, in this admirable essay, clearly demonstrates from a thirty years' successful practice that the alarming consequences of self-abuse may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain, and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

This lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

Sent under seal, in a plain envelope, to any address, post paid, on receipt of six cents or two post stamps.

Continues to treat all private diseases, syphilis in all its forms, gonorrhœa, gleet, stricture, orchitis, and all urinary diseases, and the effects of mercury, are completely eradicated; spermatorrhœa or seminal weakness and impotency, resulting from self abuse or other causes, and which produce some of the following effects, as blotches, bodily weakness, indigestion, consumption, aversion to society, unmanliness, dread of future events, loss of memory, indolence, nocturnal emissions and finally so prostrating the sexual system as to render marriage unsatisfactory, and therefore imprudent, are permanently cured.

It is self evident, that the physician who confines himself exclusively to the study of a certain class of diseases and treats thousands of cases every year must acquire a greater skill in that specialty than one in general practice.

The establishment, comprising ten neat rooms, is central. When it is not convenient to visit the city, the doctor's opinion can be obtained by giving a written statement of the case, and medicines can be sent by mail or express.

The doctor publishes a medical pamphlet of fifty pages that gives a full exposition of venereal and private diseases that can be had free at his office or by mail, in sealed envelope, for two stamps. Every sentence contains instruction to the afflicted, and enabling them to determine the precise nature of their complaints.

JOS. COLEMAN.

I do not wish to interest you, reader, that Dr. Wonderful, or any other man, has discovered a remedy that cures consumption, when the lungs are half consumed, in short, will cure all diseases whether of mind, body, or estate, make men live forever, and leave death to play for want of work, and is designed to make our subsidiary sphere a blissful paradise, to which heaven itself shall be but a side show. You have heard enough of that kind of humbuggery. But when I tell you that Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy will cure the worst cases of catarrh in the head, I only assert that which thousands can testify to. I will pay $500 reward for a case that I cannot cure. A pamphlet giving symptoms and other information sent free to any address. This remedy is Sold by Most Druggists in all parts of the World.

Price 50 cents. Sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of sixty cents, or four packages for two dollars. Beware of counterfeits and worthless imitations. See that my private stamp, which is a positive guarantee of genuineness, is upon the outside wrapper. Remember that this private stamp issued by the U S government expressly for stamping my medicines has my portrait name and address and the words U S Certificate of Genuineness engraved upon it, and need not be mistaken. Don't be swindled by travelers and others representing themselves as Dr. Sage. I am the only man now living that has the knowledge and right to manufacture the genuine Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, and I never travel to sell this medicine. R. V. PIERCE, M.
